WE NOMINATE

The half-dozen Princetonians—Julian Parks Boyd, James Douglas Brown, Alonzo Church, Herbert Feis, Atle Selberg and Jean-Pierre Serre—who this past week were elevated to membership in the 160-year old American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a distinguished roster reserved for creative artists, men of affairs and outstanding representatives of the scientific and intellectual disciplines. Suffice it to say, no other community in these United States can point to an equivalent newly elected representation in a group that included 116 Fellows of the Academy and 37 foreign Honorary Members.

In keeping with the present-day emphasis on mathematics, which has permitted both this country and the Soviet Union to catapult satellites into space, three of the "Princeton Six"—Church, Selberg and Serre—are ranked among the intensive-mathematical thinkers of the mid-20th Century. The 56-year old Church, a native of Washington, D. C., and a member of the University's Department of Mathematics throughout his teaching career, is internationally recognized as a mathematical logician and, among other distinctions, holds the position for the Encyclopedia Britannica of consulting editor on all articles dealing with mathematics and logic.

The Norwegian-born Selberg, affiliated with the Institute for Advanced Study since 1947 and a professor in its School of Mathematics for the past nine years, is like Serre—a past winner of the Fields Medal for outstanding contributions in the broad area of mathematical theory. Where the 42-year old Selberg is largely concerned with number theory and analysis, Serre, currently dividing the calendar year between the Institute and the College de France, has been singled out for his concentration on algebraic geometry. The latter will hold the Academy rank of Honorary Member.

To the 66-year old Feis, economist-author and in recent years an intermittent member of the Institute's School of Historical Studies, belongs the distinction of producing some of the most provocative studies of the 1950's, including "Churchill-Roosevelt-Stalin", "The China Tangle" and "The Diplomacy of the Dollar." Boyd, rounding out his second decade as a Borough resident, is editor of the monumental Thomas Jefferson Papers, a 52-volume undertaking that under the University's auspices will eventually include the estimated 25,000,000 words comprising the writings and correspondence of this country's third president.

Brown, 61 years old and a native of nearby Somerville, has over the past four decades combined teaching, research and administrative responsibilities in the University with service to governmental departments and agencies. Dean of the Princeton Faculty since 1946, and from 1926 through 1955 Director of the Industrial Relations Section, Brown has been described as one of the architects of this country's social security program and continues to figure prominently in the ongoing development of personnel and manpower policies, particularly those bearing upon senior citizens wrestling with the financial problems posed by retirement or disability.

For remarkable achievements in their chosen areas of concentration; for accepting the challenges of the unknown and seeking to lead their fellow men along new routes of discovery; for strengthening Princeton's traditions as a center of education and research; these six are TOWN TOPICS' nominees for

NOW IT'S FENCES

Swimming Pool Ordinances Table-
d. Princeton is a community of articulate people. Small groups of them have been appearing lately at Township Committee meetings to express—and sometimes to reiterate—their firm opinions on a variety of pertinent matters. A few weeks ago it was sidewalks.
Monday night, it was fences.

Committee held a public hearing on its proposed ordinance to require a fence around any swimming pool which is 500 feet from the nearest neighbor. A previous fencing ordinance was voted down by Committee last year. This new ordinance was inspired by the death of a child in a swimming pool a few months ago. After a long exchange of opinion, question and answer between Township citizens and Township Committee the governing body laid the ordinance for further study and, possibly, for revision.

Dr. William Kleinberg, 50 Woodland Drive, said he objected to the ordinance because it singled out swimming pools as hazardous.
"I'd like to see criteria established by which any body of water, lake, a stream, or even a ditch—could be judged a hazard."
"Would you fence in Carnegie Lake?" Committee member Stanley
C. Smoyer asked, adding that Committee had purposely refrained from mentioning natural bodies of water because Committee felt that it would be impossible to regulate every conceivable hazard which might threaten Township children.

Scenic Values Threatened. N.
I. Korman, 371 Riverside Drive, told Committee that he had both swimming pool and lake frontage and that he regarded Lake Carnegie as more of a hazard than his pool. "Also," he said, "a fence would destroy the aesthetic value of my property. There is only one house within 500 feet of me and the youngest child there is 12 years old. Why should I build a fence?"

Donald Strachan, Rosedale Lane, also said that a fence would lower the aesthetic value of his property. "I have an impenetrable hedge on these sides of my land which no child could possibly get through. Besides, how do you figure in 500 feet? If you want as the crow flies, I'm less than 500, but nobody can get through that way. If you walk around the road, which is the only possible route, I'm more than 500 feet."

John D. Davies, 84 Heather Lane, said he had built his pool with the understanding that fences were not required in the Township. He said he felt that the four-foot fence requirement was pointless anyway, because "any agile, determined child can climb a four-foot fence." He also told Committee that to fence his pool would be to ruin his landscape plan.

John R. Lasley, Cherry Valley Road, said "I'm just as selfish as everybody here. I own a pool and I have a brook and a stream, too, and I think that fencing is the responsibility of the pool owner and should be left there. What about the kids that get killed in traffic? You're not planning to fence in Route 206, are you?" Mr.
Lasley quoted statistics to show that only one-third of one percent of all deaths, on a nationwide scale, were due to drowning.

Alternatives Discussed. One spectator asked Committee, following Mr. Lasley's statement, "Shall we keep statistics on the number of Township deaths by drowning? How many do we need before an ordinance will be required?"

There was some discussion of other methods of safeguarding small children around a pool. Several members of the audience suggested that it was the parents' responsibility to keep young children well fenced-in. Mr. Korman recommended an alarm device which rings when there are abnormal waves in a pool. "Suppose nobody's at home when a child falls in and the alarm rings?" Mr. Smoyer asked.

In defense of the ordinance, Committee member John Mount pointed out that the Township is growing rapidly and that people now living in remote "country" areas might soon find themselves with many neighbors. Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman also said he felt that the ordinance would legislate for the future.

T. C. Kane, Princeton - Kingston Road, suggested that the ordinance might be amended so that swimming pool owners would not have to build fences if they obtained statements from neighbors to the effect that the pool was not a neighborhood hazard.

No Exceptions Possible. This suggestion was received by Committee with considerable interest,

Nixon Is "Delighted"

Earlier this spring, Princetonians gave Vice President Richard Nixon a strong vote of confidence in Town Topics' Question of the Week. On Monday, the Vice President wrote from Washington to express his appreciation.

Town Topics asked: "If Senator Kennedy and Vice President Nixon were to face each other for the Presidency in November, which one would you vote for and why?" When the answers favored Mr. Nixon, 14 to 4 long-time Republicans James S. Thompson of 45 Parkside Drive sent the Vice President a copy of Town
Topics' weekly feature.

Tuesday's mail brought this reply: "It was most thoughtful of you to write me as you did, and as you can imagine, I am delighted to have the clipping you enclosed from The Prince-

"I want you to know, too, that nothing could be more gratifying than to receive such a generous assurance of support as you so warmly expressed. With every good wish . . ."

Jervey S. Moore, Jr., said he thought the ordinance would have to be Township-wide, without exceptions.

Mr. Lapaky suggested that fencing be based on the zoning ordinance, with an absolute requirement for the quarter-acre or half-acre zones and reduced requirements in areas where houses are far apart and separated by natural barriers, such as woods and hedges. He also raised the question of a nonreflexive ordinance which would simply require fences for all new pools, and exempt pools which were already built.

Committeeman Smoyer said there was "substantial disagreement" within Committee itself over the ordinance, and added that Committee had not prejudged the proposed law before the hearing.

"We've been working for a compromise that would exempt people whose pools are not a hazard," Committeeman William Marvel said. "We might have a team consisting of the chief of police and a building official who could inspect pools, and grant or deny an exception, but wouldn't this be passing the buck to the police and administrative employees of the Township?"

"I wouldn't vote against this ordinance," said Mayor Fairman. "I just an accident occur and I would then feel that I had been negligent."

Play Area Planned. In the remainder of the long session, Committee approved $14,000 to clean up the northern end of the seven and one-half acre playground area east of the Shopping Center, to grade and seed it, erect a fence, lay a blacktop basketball court, straighten the channel through which the Shopping Center's air-conditioning water drains away and build a concrete retaining wall. The section will also contain a wading pool and playground equipment.

The Board of Recreation Commissioners, which had asked for this action, also recommended that Committee acquire if possible, a triangular plot of land consisting of three lots in the Shady Brook development for recreation purposes. Committeeman Marvel was asked to discuss the possibility with Carl Geiger, who owns the land. Its purchase would be subject to Planning Board approval.

Committee also approved an emergency appropriation of

PERSONALITIES
 Miss Frances Clark and Miss Louise Goas, 32 Vandewater Avenue, who next fall will give Princeton its newest educational institution with establishment of the New School for Music Study. Scheduled to open with an enrollment in excess of 200 and to occupy two floors of a brand new building at 333 Nassau Street, the school is an outgrowth of the successful piano program instituted five years ago by Miss Clark at the Westminster Choir College. (For a complete report, see Music in Princeton, page 21.)

Leonard F. Newton, 30 Dempsey Avenue, whose tonight record during the past year as president of the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce has earned him the nomination for the position of vice-president of the national organization. At Lakewood last weekend, fellow Jaycees endorsed him for the forthcoming race. A basis of the 1000 new members and 14 additional chapters added to the New Jersey roster under his leadership, making it the largest in the U. S.

ROUND-UP
 May produced seven days last week in which the thermometer never topped 68, averaged eight degrees below normal and one got as low as 36. . . last Saturday, the high of 58 was two degrees below the normal mean temperature for this time of year. . . precipitation is about average but the soaking rains have been missing, so that the ground is drier underneath than green-thumbs and the lawn like to find it.

The fire that closed the Quarry Street School for a day last week remains listed as "of undetermined origin," and both spontaneous combustion and arson have been dismissed as possibilities. . . the burned-out classroom has been closed, and will not be rebuilt until summer.

The bridge on Princeton Pike took another drubbing Monday morning at 6:40 when Jay Craig, 30, 51 Leigh Avenue, failed to make the turn and damaged the entire left side of his car. . . a tire surgeon, Thomas Stinson, 24, of Yardley, fell out of a tree Friday at the corner of Russell and Winant Roads and is in serious condition at Princeton Hospital with head and neck injuries. Classified ads in this issue set a record, topping 400 inches. . . the week's classic: "Have seven bikes and three kids. Either buy the bikes or sell us your small children."

Ten Years Ago; TOWN TOPICS, May 18, 1950: There was talk of replacing the Nassau Street School with a more modern structure, to be built off heavily-traveled Nassau Street in the northern part of the municipality, and of moving crowded Borough Hall into the vacated school. . . also of building a new post office to replace the present over-crowded facilities and giving the antiquated public library a new home in the vacated post office. . . ten years later, the only development is that the talk of such changes has died down.

Incidental intelligence included these items: Princeton University announced plans to hire painter Jan Vermeer's "The Artist in His Studio," which Andrew Mellon once sought to buy for $1,000,000, and, five years earlier, had been recovered among the personal effects of one Adolf Hitler, who had seized it in Austria. . . they eyed a Princetonian's well-used car, left it where it stood, but carted off its brand new prefabricated garage.

Managed by Tom Brophy, Princeton's entry was leading the Twin-M League with a 3-0 mark. . . standouts on the team included Joe Friel, Bob Kehoe, Bob DiGiovanni, Dick Coffey, Jim Brown, Jack Petrone, Nick Ross and Frank Hart. . . Emerson Dickman's Tiger Varsity was in first place in the Eastern League. . . Dutch Schoch's three heavyweight crews placed second in the point scoring for the Rowe Cup in the Eastern Sprint Championships.

held on the Severn River. The Playhouse was offering "The Big Lift," a story of the airborne-supply of Berlin by the AAF while the German capital was blockaded by Russia (and it may be that they'll run that one again, in light of current world affairs). . . the Garden was staging a second showing of the 1950 hit, "The Third Man," while McCarter Theater was booked by the Westminster Choir College for its Fabot Festival, drawing choirs from North Carolina to the south and Michigan to the west.

On the birth list at Princeton Hospital were Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Patterson, 84 College Road; Mr. and Mrs. John Marcus Older Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hol-

TOPICS Of the Town

ARCHITECTS CHOSEN

For Great Road Campus. The architectural firm of Moore and Hutchins of New York City has been named to design the new school buildings on the Great Road campus. Mrs. Barklie M. May, chairman of the Board of Miss Fine's School, and Richard W. Baker, Jr., chairman of the Board of Princeton Country Day School, made the announcement.

Land for the new campus was donated to the two schools by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Mahey. Preliminary plans and sketches of the new buildings for both schools and for these buildings and facilities which the schools will use in common are expected to be ready by September 1. The architectural firm will work in collaboration with the firm of Clarke and Rappano, of New York City, landscape architects and site engineers.

NATIVES WERE RESTLESS

Students in Riot. Set off by a fire alarm, a balmy spring night, the imminence of final examinations and whatever other mystical elements move undergraduates, a mob of 1,500 Princeton University students swarmed over Nassau Street and its tributaries late Monday night. They caused negligible damage, but gave Borough Police and University proctors a brisk 90 minutes before things finally quieted down.

The general alarm sounded at 10:43 p.m. for a fire in the meter-box of an unoccupied house at 1015 Princeton Pike belonging to Mrs. Howard S. Gold. Students spilling out of library and movies heard the sirens and decided to follow the flames. A crowd of fire buffs reached the corner of Mercer and Lovers Lane and then decided that the fire was just too far away. It seemed a shame to waste the evening, however, so they began cheering, stopping cars and sitting in the street.

There were two or three groups of students, according to Borough Police Chief Raymond F. Montdone. They moved up Mercer to Nassau, where police discouraged them. Then they headed for Westminster College, where some of them apparently hoped to lead a "hanky raid."

One group, estimated by Chief Montdone at about 1,000, converged on the railroad station and the engineer of the incoming two-car train stopped at the far end of the platform when he saw the crowd. Students swarmed over the train, breaking four or five windows, shaking the cars and letting air out of the pressure brakes. The few passengers who were on the train left without injury.

"Prospect" invaded. Approximately 500 students invaded "Prospect," the home of President Robert F. Goheen, rocked Dr. Goheen's black sedan, but did not try to drive it off, although they were shouting the rallying cry "We want cars!" This was in reference to the University's no-car rule for undergraduates.

At 11:30 p.m., Dr. Goheen, dressed hastily in grey sweater and slacks, addressed the students and said, "You're acting like a mob."

"There are plenty of times when I'm proud of Princeton undergraduates but they are not times like this," said Dr. Goheen. "We've had enough of this adolescence. You've had plenty of time to show your steam. Settle down and go back to your rooms." He was applauded.

There were sporadic explosions around campus until 12:30, when seven University proctors and 1 Borough police brought things under control: garbage cans were upset on University Place and on Alexander Streets, bike racks were dragged to the middle of the street, a pile of hay used to cover tennis courts in the winter was set on fire in such a manner that it blocked the return of the shuttle train to the Junction and several cherry bombs were exploded.

"A complete investigation is under way," said Dean William D'O. Lippincott. "and appropriate disciplinary action will be taken where it is needed." Some 20 students will be questioned about their part in the riot.

"They finally dispersed," Chief Montdone reported, "after we used a little persuasion." No arrests were made.

The most recent student "riot" was about three years ago, according to Chief Montdone. The last big riot, involving much more damage than Monday's, was in 1953.

MISS TITUS FOUND DEAD

Listed as Suihede, Miss Katie B. Titus was found dead Monday morning in her home at 58 Wiggins Street by her companion, Mrs. Louetta Laing of 81 Main Street, Kingston, when Mrs. Laing came to work at 9:45 a.m. Borough Police Chief Raymond Montdone said that Miss Titus, who was 73, had hanged herself from the stair rail with a belt.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at the Mather Funeral Home, 40 Vandeventer Avenue. The Rev. Dr. William L. Tucker, pastor emeritus of Second Presbyterian Church, officiated. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Miss Titus, who was born in Hightstown, was the daughter of the late Columbus A. and Alice Blackwell Titus. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Karl C. Herman of Cranford.

DR. TRY TO BE SPEAKER
At Their College Exercises. The Rev. Dr. Franklin C. Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church of America, will give the commencement address at the 31st annual commencement exercises of Westminster Choir College, to be held this Friday at 10:30 a.m. in Princeton University Chapel.

MASTER PLAN READY

For Township Severer. A sewer master plan, indicating a feasible program for Township officials to follow, has been delivered to Township Hall from Buck, Seifert and Yost, the firm retained to prepare the plan.

The plan estimates that extension of the Township sewer system might cost $2½ million, but Township engineer James Erbe in commenting on the proposed program, says that the figure is actually meaningless because so much depends on what Township Committee decides to do.

Committee will now study the plan and eventually assign priorities to various sections of the Township, either on the basis of need or finances.

JAILED AS DISORDERLY

Dugger, 30, was charged with disorderly conduct for causing a disturbance at his home, 12 Leigh Avenue, resulted in a 30-day workhouse sentence for 32-year-old Edward S. Ruggler.

Township Police Sergeant Lester Anderson and Patrolman Howard Sweeney testified that he attacked them when they called to the scene Saturday afternoon. Dugger was sentenced by Magistrate James S. Hill.

YOUNG TIEB CAUGHT

By Suspicious Attendant. When William F. O'Neill, 21, of 30 Deer Path, tried to exchange about $61 in coins for cash at the Esso Gas Station on Route 1 at 4 in the morning on Friday, the attendant, Henry Pusko, became suspicious and called police. Under subsequent questioning, Borough police said that O'Neill admitted that it was he who had stolen $61 from the De Luxe Barber Shop at 244 Nassau Street and had tried, unsuccessfully, to break into Kase Kleeners at 227 Nassau.

O'Neill allegedly told police how he had taken a tire iron from a car parked on Nassau Street and then attempted to pry open a window at Kase Kleeners. Falling in this he went across the street to the barber shop owned by Anthony La Placa, jimmied a window and stole the loose change he found in a cabinet. Police recovered $44.75 of the $61 taken. They also recovered the tire iron used by O'Neill in a storm drain.

O'Neill was arraigned before Magistrate Theodore T. Tams and committed to Mercer County Jail to await action by the grand jury.

PINE BRAE WILL OPEN

Country Club Reveals Plans. Pine Brae Country Club, which re-opened earlier this spring its plans to establish a club in a group of brick farm buildings on Rocky Hill Road, Blairstown, has announced that the club will open on July 4.

First year plans include the construction of a swimming pool, children's wading pool, four all-weather tennis courts, an archery range, stable facilities and picnic area, children's play areas, men's and women's locker rooms and snack bar.

A pond at the rear of the property will be stocked with fish. Future plans call for a formal dining-room, cocktail lounge, golf room and club room. The pond will be used for ice-skating in the winter.

Further information may be obtained from Paul O'Brien, 6 Canoe Brook Drive, Princeton Junction.

HOW TO FIGHT A FIRE

Firemen Will Demonstrate. In a setting which will simulate a dangerous fire in a busy shopping area, members of the Princeton Fire Department under Chief James Pace will stage a demonstration of fire-fighting equipment at the Princeton Shopping Center.

The next Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. The demonstration will be held at Bamberger's.

Chief Pace has planned the demonstration to show residents of the community how they can prevent fires, and how the fire companies handle fires with their apparatus and their crews of firemen. There will be a demonstration of the types of fire-extinguishing equipment that are available for homes, and a demonstration of the need for establishing escape plans for private homes.

—DEAN N. OYO

This was a question beyond the province of the Weather Man, he admitted, nonetheless noting that if riots occur, they almost invariably come during the month of May. Spring, however, he agreed, took the blame for a lot of things, possibly because no one knows exactly what spring fever is.

If the Dean's Office is hot, the weather will be at least warmer in the next few days. The sub-normal temperatures of the past week will be replaced by readings in the 70's. Generally fair, with some variable cloudiness through Sunday.

Adquate fire-house equipment will be displayed and free rides will be given to children on a junior-ford fire truck. Photographs of old-fashioned fire engines will be distributed at the City Service Station.

TWIN'S A SELL-OUT
 Holbrook in Second Appearance. Hal Holbrook's return engagement in "Mark Twain Tonight" is almost a sell-out, according to Dana Attractions, which is presenting Mr. Holbrook's second appearance in McCarter Theatre. Tickets for the performance this Friday at 8:30 may still be purchased at the University Store, Standing room will go on sale at the McCarter box-office at 8:30 Friday.

Mr. Holbrook, who is 31, appears on stage as the "spitfire" image of Mark Twain as he was at 70. His make-up job, which takes three hours, involves the blending of eight different grass-paint colors to create the brushed-in wrinkles on face and neck.

MONTOYA AND ZULLO PLAY
 In the next week of today, it is not often that one has the opportunity to hear teacher and pupil perform together. Saturday night's concert of flamenco music in McCarter Theatre, sponsored by Celebrity Series, provided a Princeton audience with just that opportunity, billing Carlos Montoya, the teacher and illustrious Spanish guitarist, and Dominick Zullo, his pupil. Mr. Zullo performs and teaches here in Princeton, and as well, co-owner of Reilly's Meat Market on Witherspoon Street.

The great part of the program belonged to Mr. Montoya; it was a return engagement to Princeton for him this year. Each of the compositions which he performed were basically his own arrangements of and improvisations upon old Spanish gypsy songs and dance tunes. Because of the great freedom afforded the guitarist in the flamenco art and most certainly because of Mr. Montoya's own natural gifts, Saturday's audience was treated to a dazzling display of technical virtuosity and imaginative variations upon fundamentally simple melodies.

Flamenco music, in itself, can be sensual, passionate, and exciting in the emotional response it evoked in the listener, mainly, it would seem, through rhythm. In hearing it, one can scarcely help imagining in the mind's eye all the color and hot-bloodedness of Spanish gypsy dancing. The music itself suggests a dramatic situation—the intensity of the Spanish temperament itself, as reflected in the native gypsy songs and dances.

On the other hand, perhaps, flamenco performed as concert music—on a bare stage, with the necessary microphones and spotlights—seems to lose some of its flavor, for in this context, without the aid of the visual spectacle, one feels more compelled to evaluate and enjoy it purely as music, not as an inherent element of a unified folk art. How one responds to it is purely a matter of personal taste, and also depends on the extent to which the listener is willing to use his imagination.

Mr. Zullo's appearance occurred at the end of the program.

THREE HOURS LATER: Hal Holbrook, 34, as Mark Twain at 70—after a three-hour make-up.

When he and Mr. Montoya combined their talents in three duets, two programmed and one as an encore. This occasion was said to include the first performance of flamenco duets on the concert stage; however, these "duets" are curiously disappointing, if one expected to hear double the intricacy in texture and rhythmic patterns evidenced in the playing of one. For, with only a few brief exceptions, the two seemed to be playing very much the same parts.

From this performance, one could be assured that Mr. Zullo's playing surely merits his good reputation; one might have wished, however, that he could have had a little more limelight of his own, in a solo capacity, on this occasion. The audience, attending with a dual purpose—to hear an acknowledged master and to support a talented "native son"—was highly pleased, however, on both counts. And Mr. Montoya himself most graciously showed his pleasure at being joined in this program by his pupil and friend.

PROGRAM CHANGED

Players Abandon Greece. Because of casting problems, the Community Players have decided not to produce Graham Greene's "The Living Room" as their last play of the season and will, instead, give "Papa Is All" by Patterson Greene. The Pennsylvania Dutch comedy will be presented at the Playmill June 3 and 4 and again June 7 through 11 at 8:30 under the direction of Constance Lox. Tickets are available at the University Store.

In the cast of "Papa Is All" will be Elaine Battis as "Mama," Peter Cook as "Jake," Bob Wom as "State Trooper Brendle," Esther Usiskin as "Binna," Mildred Wasserman as "Mrs. Yore" and Edward Callanan as "Papa."

MURRAY ROMAN COMING

Columbia Will Record Show. Columbia Records has made arrangements to do a live recording of the performance by West Coast comedian, Murray Roman, scheduled for Saturday at 8:30 in Princeton University's Murray Theatre. The free show is being sponsored under the C-K Productions' Series of Six programs. A graduate of Long Island University, Mr. Roman played in several coffee houses in the Los Angeles area and also "The Merry 1" in San Francisco, where comedian Mort Sahl and the Kingston Trio gained their fame. His repertoire includes sketches of old time movies and animal dialogues.

DANA TO SHIFT SCENE
Producer Maxine to San Francisco. Dana Attractions, Inc., which has presented 16 musical and theatrical attractions in McCarter Theatre over the past two seasons, has announced its transfer to San Francisco.

Vice-president and co-producer William W. Lockwood, Jr., 74 Jefferson Road, reports that the first season on the Pacific Coast will include a series of concerts by such artists as Van Cliburn (in his first San Francisco recital); Jerome Hines, Metropolitan Opera bass; Gina Bachauer, pianist; Eleanor Steber, soprano; Isaac Stern, violinist; Andrea Scgovia, guitarist; and the Israel Philharmonic in its first visit to the United States since 1961.

Also on the fall roster for Dana in San Francisco will be jazz pianist Errol Garner, poet Carl Sandburg in two appearances, Richard Dyer-Bennet and Larry Adler.

"Once-Upon a Mistress" will be Dana's major theatrical offering. The comedy, now in its second year in New York, will be on tour under the auspices of the National Phoenix Theatre. Dorothy Stickney's "A Lovely Light," which was given in McCarter last June, will also be staged under Dana's sponsorship in San Francisco.

Dana's initial offering in Princeton was Emlyn Williams' "A Boy Growing Up," presented in February, 1969. Other presentations included two appearances by Fiamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya; "The Tempest," Carl Sandburg; Katherine Cornell's "Dear Liar"; "Mary Stuart"; Piccolo Teatro di Milano; Richard Dyer-Bennet; the Italian dancer, Destine, and "Mark Twain Tonight."

"We find most gratifying the University's plans to transfer McCarter into a 'Center for the Performing Arts'," said Mr. Lockwood. "We feel confident that those individuals who have responded warmly to our offerings over the past two years will respond with equal enthusiasm to this unique opportunity to enjoy

CK OFFERS SUBSCRIPTIONS

Will Present Three Offerings. Three "famous names" will be offered this fall to subscribers who join CK Productions' new series, billed as a supplement to McCarter Theatre's fall drama series.

Stanley Holloway will open the series on October 3 with a one-man show. Now appearing at the London Palladium, Holloway will take his one-man production to Boston and Los Angeles before coming to Princeton, and after his appearance in McCarter, he will open on Broadway. The original Alfred Doolittle in "My Fair Lady," Holloway is a theatre veteran. He holds the Order of the British Empire.

CK's second presentation on November 6, will be "Elsa Lanchester." In this "one-man show," Miss Lanchester will appear as a clown, mimic, dancer, pantomimist, singer, satirist, and vaudevillian in a production written jointly with her husband, Mr. Laughlin.

Jose Greco and his Spanish Ballet will bring the C-K series to a close on January 11. Universally recognized as one of the world's foremost Spanish dancers, Senior Greco leads a company of 25. Series tickets for CK's offerings will go on sale at the Princeton University Store in September.

THE PLAYHOUSE
Tall Story (May 18-21) Introduces June Fonda, Henry Fonda's beautiful look-alike daughter, in a pleasant, juvenile farce. Anthony Perkins is the co-star. Perkins has a unique ability to look just a little too young for any part he is assigned. As a young naval officer in "On the Beach," he looked like a college boy; here, as a college basketball star, he looks like a gangling freshman. You have to respect his versatility, though.

Miss Fonda, a tall girl, has designed to advance them, she arranges to take several courses with him at the college they both attend. It doesn't take long for Perkins to fall for her and propose, but their marriage plans face obstacles: Perkins is fast-talked into becoming an overpriced trailer; Perkins, bribed to throw a basketball game, worries so much about it that he flunks a test and renders himself ineligible. His professors, Ray Walston and Macaulay, patch things up just in time for Our Boy to plunge into the game with seconds remaining and score the winning basket.

Our Man in Havana (May 22-26) is an estimable serio-comic spoof of international spydom, produced —Continued on Page 8—

FOR WRENS AND CIGARETTES

Hospital Fete Offerings. It's one of the most ingenious bird-feeders we've ever seen and if you collect birds and try to keep from collecting cats and squirrels, you'll appreciate this feeder. It consists of two white-painted pie plates separated by four bamboo poles so that the bottom, or feeder plate is about a foot below the roof. Above the top plate there's a frisky little circus-tent top with fringe around it, but this is just for fun.

The feeder is designed to be hung outside a double-hung window. There's an eye at the apex of the circus tent which catches the hook on one end of a three-foot-long bamboo pole. The other end of this pole is hollow, being bamboo, and it goes over a nail which you drive into the cross piece of your window. Clothes line guy-wires reach out from the feeder to each side of the window. When you want to fill or empty the feeder, you slip the hollow bamboo stick off its nail and pull the feeder in. Because it is suspended, it is inaccessible to cats, squirrels and toddlers.

This bird feeder is one of many pleasant and attractive accessories which the Hospital Fete ladies have been making for the past several months, and all will be for sale at the Fete in June.

There's a charming group of shadow boxes designed to hold cigarettes. Within the one-inch-deep shadow, toy figures have been arranged against a back ground of post-cards, 19th century prints and so on. Here's some Union Infantry, (real toy soldiers,

Nocturnal Bikini

You might think that a demure Bikini is a contradiction in terms, but The Betty Wright Shop is out to prove you wrong with two sleep-suits cut like Riviera bathing suits and made of fabrics like Grandma's calico petticoat.

One set, $3.98, is made of very fine cotton blend, printed with soft rosebuds, lace-edged everywhere there is an edge, and piped with deep rose. There are three pieces, the third one being a very, very short overcoat with no sleeves, a handkerchief pocket and a coy, round collar.

Another group can be bought separately, the top and bottom for $3.58 and the coat for the same price. This one is solid pastel, in a nylon-dacron-Egyptian cotton combination. The pink background sets off a panel of white satin-stitch embroidery on the very short camisole top and the high-cut Bikini. The coat on this one is longer and could be used as a sleep-coat.

one inch high) marching against the background of a Civil War print. Hessians (real toy soldiers again) appear before a stormy battle-grey sky. Burchfield's famous painting of an old house provides the background for two toy cars, parked at the curb.

If you need an extra table for indoors or out, you may look over the collection of cocktail tables with marbled vinyl tops, polished so highly that they do indeed look like marble. The three-inch squares have been set within birch frames in a border pattern, and the frames mounted on those old-fashioned sewing machine bases, painted white or black.

Rubber feet used to provide the boots for heavy machinery have been wrapped with gold and then painted — some blue, some white, some any color you can think of. The ladies have made fitted wooden tops, and have presented you with a covered cigarette urn. "Wild-maned" hobby horses (frayed rope) with lid-bit leather ears . . . plastic mats with silk-screen meditation design and one half-tree meditation under which you slip a napkin (dozens of color combinations) . . . 28-inch wall-paper roll lamps, fitted with bronze or tawny satin shades . . . decorative wastebaskets, including one with an imperious mandarin in gold and lacquer red (he's the menu cover from a San Francisco restaurant).

Light a Lantern. Paper lanterns from Japan glow with candle or bulb on patio or porch. Buy one or two or three from Kung Ping's varied collection, designed to shade a hanging bulb or to contain a candle. There are globes of cream-colored paper, a pagoda, a lovely green bottle-shaped lantern, one like a parasol and some very fancy one with fringe and painted scenes on the sides of a polygon.

To wear over shorts, tight slacks or even a skirt, Kung Ping has a perfectly square blouse made of lightweight rayon. The figure is white bamboo against black or any of several colors. You stick your head through the straight line at the top of the rectangle, your arms through the sides and let the angles fall where they may. $2.25.

Coolie hats at Kung Ping come in three sizes and prices and three — Continued on Page 9

PRETTY PEOPLE: Jane Fonda, Henry's lovely daughter, and Tony Perkins relax together in "Tall Story." The Joshua Logan comedy, which also features Ray Walston and Marc Connelly, will be at the Playhouse through Saturday.

News Of The Theatres

and directed by Carol Reed, written by Graham Greene and starring Alec Guinness, Burt Ives, Maureen O'Hara, Ernie Kovacs and Noel Coward. The film is in CinemaScope.

Guinness, a bumbling, self-effacing vacuum cleaner representative with a small shop in Havana, is approached by British Secret Service agent Coward, who wants him to set up an espionage center in the Cuban capital. Because he is anxious to provide for his motherless daughter (Jo Morrow), Guinness agrees. When Coward presses him for action, Guinness invents a mythical intelligence crew, picking real names out of a country club register and producing elaborate maps which are actually based on the vacuum cleaners he sells. The comedy takes on unfunny overtones when Guinness' only friend (Ives) is killed and Guinness is deported from Cuba.

But the moments of excitement and intrigue are handled as skillfully as the outright comedy, and the result is a continuously diverting 112 minutes. Kovacs is particularly good as the reputedly brutal police officer who takes an interest in Miss Morrow. Recommended.

THE GARDEN

Jazz on a Summer's Day (May 18-21) should be in the running for some sort of Academy Award next year. Photographed and directed by Bert Stern, it is an imaginative and thoroughly diverting account of what went on at last summer's Newport jazz festival. The music is generally excellent, but Stern's artistic color-camera-work lifts this out of the realm of specialty films for jazz buffs. His lens roams all over the place, from the bandstand to the faces of the listeners to the town of Newport and the Americas Cup race. It's all fascinating, but the vignettes of the audience, which ranges from college kids to society matrons, are often wry little triumphs.

The musicians who appear include Louis Armstrong, Mahalia Jackson, Gerry Mulligan, Dinah

Washington, George Shearing, Chico Hamilton, Anita O'Day, Jack Teagarden, Thelionious Monk, Sonny Sult, Chuck Berry and Big Maybelle. Armstrong's vaudeville routine is allowed to dominate the picture to an unfortunate degree, and the appearance of rock-and-rollers Berry and Maybelle reflects the indecision on the part of the Newport proprietors as to whether they are producing a music festival or a circus. But the others are in top form, and Miss O'Day and Mulligan are particularly impressive. Recommended.

When Comedy Was King (May 23-28) is an uneven but often hilarious potpourri of silent film comedy shorts. The actors and actresses who appear include Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton, Laurel and Hardy, Ben Turpin, Fatty Arbuckle, Wallace Berry, Gloria Swanson, the Keystone Cops, the Sennett Girls and Bobby Vernon. Robert Youngson produced the film and wrote the generally amusing narrative. The original musical score is by Ted Royle.

The movie opens with Charlie Chase and his family visiting a movie house of the 1920's. After some pretty lamebrained antics, some of which are carefully covered by the main titles, the film gets down to business. Some of the comedies seem pretty dated and quaint, but there are moments (particularly when Chaplin is on the screen) that are as funny as anything that has ever been filmed. A high point is the sequence, written by Frank Capra, that a Sennett gagman, in which Billy Bevan careens down the street in a wreck of a car, winging every other parked vehicle.

A net lantern, about four feet long unstretched, is made of yellow, white, black or red fishnet. Kung Ping fastens to it a group of brightly colored birds ($1 each) but you may use it plain, or devise your own decoration. The lantern alone is $1.

To protect you from the sun — if it's not too bright — or from the finest mist of rain — if it's not too heavy — Kung Ping has a white cotton lace parasol, edged in black with a bamboo handle. (Learn to wink before you buy.) A lamp made like a pagoda (three stories) has a separate socket for a little night light. The lamp itself stands about 20 inches (including its gold spire) and is black with gold trim.

Thong sandal wearers may buy tabi from Kung Ping in standard cotton or stretch. Hang them, after a wash, from the clothesline attached to a bamboo "X". Collapse the "X" and you have a hanger that packs easily. Pull it out, and you have a clothesline. Costs 40 cents.

Pants or Skirt? Betty Wright has culottes in a very light-weight cotton ticking with puffed sleeves, back zipper and a red sash. $6.88. Another version is solid green with such wide culottes that everybody will think you're wearing a skirt. A turquoise jump-suit, with narrower pants, has a wrap-around skirt in striped, fringed cotton like a circus top.

For $2.98, Betty Wright offers a copy of a much more expensive bag, a handsome conception of "leather" (top-stitched) and tapestry. Many variations in size and tapestry print. For the same price, you may have a white or natural bag with orange and yellow beans appliqued on it. Betty Wright has also assembled some fascinating hats that go with, but do not match line for line, an assembly of fascinating bags.

In the hat department, you'll find a jungle hat, just like a topee, with a red sash to tie under your chin ($2.98). A fringed brim sets off a perfectly flat natural straw sailor with a beige chin sash. Black or yellow fishnet has been stretched across a white straw hat which glitters in the sun as the light catches the sequins on the net. This one is $3.98.

Has she got everything? Buy her a solid brass coat hanger for $5 or a padded bar ($5.98) over which to drape her fur stole.

WE WENT TO THE FAIR! Cotton candy, painted faces, a ride in a surrey—the Fair at Princeton Country Day School on Saturday had something for everybody, even a balloon for a tired daddy. Top left, Kathy Dyer starts the erosion process on a wad of cotton candy; Warren Elmer, Jr., center, serves as groom to the horse that pulls the surrey; right, John Bernard finds himself laden with the booty of his children who have gone off somewhere, probably to look for more. Bottom, the painted faces of Holly Salford, Barbara Short and Polly Dickey display the artistry of the make-up department.

PEDESTRIAN HIT

On Lower Alexander. Enoch L. Slover, 48, of Harris Road, Penns Neck, suffered scalp lacerations, bruises and cuts Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a car on Alexander Street, near Andy's Tavern. The car, going south, was driven by Arnold G. Gundersen, 17, of Griggstown, who received a summons from Township police.

According to police, young Gundersen said that Mr. Slover, who was crossing Alexander from east to west, let one car go by and then stepped into the street without looking and walked into the path of Gundersen's car. The car skidded 56 feet, six inches in a straight line. Slover landed, police said, 26 feet beyond the point where the car had stopped.

HOSPITAL AT WORK

On Ten-Year Program. Princeton Hospital has begun implementation of its ten-year expansion plan with the creation of four classifications for various aspects of the hospital's work. The program was inspired at the Symposium on the hospital's next decade, held last December.

A master planning committee, composed of medical staff members, the board of trustees and the administration, has been set up to carry out the findings of the symposium participants. The committee has met twice, and has selected a steering committee as well as subcommittees assigned to specific areas.

"Critical and Urgent." Under Priority Classification A ("critical and immediately urgent"), fall a home-care nursing program, expansion of the maternity, pediatric, laboratory and X-ray departments, and the study of progressive care of group training.

The individual subcommittees will evaluate present facilities,

Catholic Charities Opposed.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

I am very much distressed at the admission of the Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Trenton to the Community Fund. As it was first constituted, this Fund was intended to make more economical and efficient the collection of monies for our local charities. It was also decided at the time that charities that were carried on under religious denominations were the responsibilities of those denominations and had no place in the Fund.

This, I still think, was a wise decision. However, if a charity in one religious denomination is to come under the Fund, it would seem only just that any other religious charity giving service to this community should have the opportunity to do likewise if it so desires. It would be seen that this would vastly increase the budget and, I think, cause resentment among many contributors.

I very strongly urge that such admissions shall not be allowed and that the Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Trenton be deleted from future budgets.

CAROLINE M. BUTLER

Male and Walker "Leftists."

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

I have just read your reporting of the Mayor's attitude toward our private Water Company. Government ownership of industry is not the American way. Use of due process of law to require private industry to operate in a manner not injurious to the public welfare and health is the American Democratic way.

The Water Company is perfectly right in the matter at hand, in wanting to know from the people what they want. Dictation by a possibly biased newspaper is a conclusive answer, especially when public opinion had expressed itself in reasonable numbers against the issue of fluoridation of the local water supply.

The Socialist State attitude reflected by our present Mayor and at least one member of the Borough Council, is not a little alarming. It is shocking. Of course the climate natural to a socialist state, even though it is not operated in a communist manner, is a most happy one for calumnious politicians.

Councilman Walker's remarks as quoted in your reporting that he resented being "dictated to by a private company" is even more alarming. Can these gentlemen believe it is their privilege in the public position they hold to reverse the age old tried and true American way of life, conceived in Liberty and maintained by popular demand: OF THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE, and BY THE PEOPLE.

It is presumed that the will of the people and free enterprise are our guiding principles. Our Mayor however said in essence, to heck with the peoples opinion, let's take over the water company and do as we please. Then his benchmark is quoted as saying he resents being "dictated to by a private company."

This attitude and these words smack more of the Communist way than the American way of life. We had best grid on our armour and at least snoop around to see where this hypocritical-governed administration in our Borough is leading us. I cannot believe these men are truly representative of the Honorable American Democratic Party. Nor that Thomas Jefferson would be proud of their attitude or their pronouncements.

I hope all citizens, Republican and true democrats will resent openly the free-handed, dictatorial, selfish attitude reflected by our Mayor and those who follow him.

P. S. I own no stock in the Water Company.

Editor's Note: For the record, Councilman Walker is a Republican.

A Statement from P.H.S.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

In recent weeks adverse publicity has been given to the actions of high school students in Princeton restaurants. The student body of Princeton High School, through its Student Council, wishes to express its concern over these difficulties.

We realize that some of our students are responsible for the problems and we have taken positive steps to correct them. The incidents have been discussed in honorums and Student Council, and the entire student body feels that these actions should not be condoned.

We sincerely hope that the actions of a few will not reflect on the other students of Princeton High School.

SKY SPY NOT OBJECTIONABLE OR ACCOUNTABLE: David Buchanan (right) would not object to reconnaissance flights made over the U. S. by Russian pilots, provided the planes are unarmed. Douglas Manning feels that the pilot's government and not the pilot should be held accountable for such flights. Other area residents disagree—for their opinions on what should be done to a spy in the sky, see below. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: If a Russian reconnaissance plane were forced down over this country, what do you feel should be done to the pilot? Where Asked: Around Town.

David Buchanan, Van Kirk Road, owner of Buchanan Construction Co.: Frankly, I'm very sympathetic toward our man shot down over Russia and as far as unarmed reconnaissance flights over foreign countries are concerned, I don't find them objectionable. For this reason, I wouldn't take any punitive action against a Russian reconnaissance pilot forced down here. If anything, he might be used as leverage to get one of our boys back from Russia. If it were an armed plane, then I'd feel differently. I still think that the air should be considered free and that countries should have the right to fly unarmed planes wherever they choose.

Douglas Manning, Mason Avenue, Trenton, carpenter: I don't feel I would hold the pilot responsible. I would hold his government responsible because he was just following orders. If it were a case of war, then action should be taken against the pilot since he would have been aware of the dangers involved in such a flight. But in peacetime, his government and not the pilot would be accountable.

Mrs. Agnes Sherman, Canal Road, Griggstown, housewife: I think he should be given a perfectly fair trial, the same that was given Col. Abel, the Russian spy caught in New York City.

The Rev. David McAlpine Jr., 198 Laurel Circle, minister: I think he should be tried under military law if he were a military man, or under this country's espionage law if he were a civilian, and whatever penalties apply should be administered. I might think that I don't believe the use of reconnaissance planes is nearly as dangerous or threatening to our security as is the work of underground spy rings that the Russians undoubtedly have here.

Mrs. Henry L. Bellier, 200 Hamilton Avenue, housewife: I feel that the first of all, the pilot's story should be heard. Then we should tell the Russian government what has happened. What this country should do from there would be to sit down and talk things out. We all have spies in other countries and if we act too hastily, it might lead to something more serious. It's a very ticklish situation.

Charles Allen, Montgomery Avenue, Rocky Hill, research: I think the precedence for this sort of thing has already been established: we executed the Rosenbergs for spying. If we act real fast and get hold of one of their pilots, we can swap him for our boys.

Mrs. Herbert A. Gibbons, 110 Nassau Street; Well, I wouldn't execute him because I don't believe in capital punishment. I'd put him in a safe spot under surveillance where he couldn't do any harm until the situation cleared up. After that, I would leave his fate in the hands of the proper authorities.

Paul Ballagie, 38 Moore Street,

University Library guard: He ought to be shot.

Mrs. Richard Frost, 80 Wheat-sheaf Lane, housewife: I'd be in favor of having the International world court decide what should be done in cases of this nature since it would be naive to assume that counter-intelligence doesn't take place the world over. I believe, during peace-time, at least, these incidents should be referred to courts other than the courts of the individual country involved.

James E. Morris, mathematics teacher at Princeton County Day School: I think he should be questioned, his answers recorded, and then sent back to Russia immediately.

Mrs. Claudia Graham, 40 Vandeventer Avenue, legal secretary: I don't think he should be punished here. They should investigate the incident, of course but I feel he should be sent back. He shouldn't be punished personally because he was doubtlessly carrying out orders from his superior and his government.

William R. Allen, 564 Mercer Road, statistician: If the rules of international law say he was performing espionage, which he would be, then he is subject to the penalties this country has for espionage.

Mrs. Walker W. Stevenson, 12 Library Place, housewife: I go under the old theory that if a spy is caught, he should be shot.

Arthur Elgin, 322 Walker Hall, University student: I think he should be given a fair trial under our judicial laws, first of all and, then, if it has been proven he actually was on a spy mission, he should be judged accordingly. His trial should not be allowed to resemble a Castro-type tribunal or be sensationalized in any way.

Miss Heather Moore, Lahaska, Pa., clerk in Princeton Decorating Shop: Question him, of course, and put him in prison. But I wouldn't execute him because it would create even worse feelings between us and Russia.

Robert W. Wood Jr., Fairview Avenue, Penns Neck, retired: I think he should be deported to Russia just as fast as possible.

Mrs. Edward Whalen, 415-B Butler Avenue, housewife: If a Russian reconnaissance pilot were forced down here, I would feel that the judgment should be of the country he came from rather than the individual pilot. If his country had sanctioned the flight,

"I WANT TO BE A NURSE"
FHS girls help at Hospital. A shortage of hospital volunteers has been unexpectedly and delightfully relieved at Princeton Hospital by 14 of the most eager recruits the volunteer program has ever had: a group of girls from Princeton High School's Future Nurses Club who spend three hours a week in Pediatrics, helping the Hospital on the one hand and on the other, testing themselves to see whether they really want to be nurses after all.

The new program began early in April, after Linda Salkin, 17, a junior at Princeton High and a member of Future Nurses, asked Mrs. D. H. Pritchard of the Volunteer staff, whether additional junior volunteers might be needed.

Mrs. Pritchard said they were, indeed. Many senior volunteers have to leave the Hospital about 3:30 when their children get home from school. These after-school hours would, of course, be the only ones open to the juniors, so the dove-tailing was perfect.

Linda, full of enthusiasm for the idea, went back to the Future

HANDS THAT HELP: These three Princeton High School "Future Nurses" are among the 14 high school girls who give three hours a week to patients at Princeton Hospital. Sometimes they run errands to a lab, or fill alcohol bottles, but mostly they help with the children in Pediatrics. Above, Judy Coffman reads aloud to young Wayne Gray; Betsy Mason offers supper to Kevin Turner; and Linda Salkin helps Elizabeth Sinnett with a carton of milk. (Staff Photos.)

Nurses and got 17 girls to sign up for the new program. Three were compelled to drop out and there are now 14 junior volunteers from the Future Nurses.

"We work in pediatrics," Linda explains, "trying to make the children comfortable, changing diapers, giving bed baths, keeping the older ones occupied with stories and things, and of course, feeding."

"One More Spoonful." It is during the 4:45 to 6:30 feeding hour that the young helpers are most valuable. Older volunteers have had to go home for their own dinner hours, the regular pediatric nurses are busy and the juniors are invaluable for the patience and time they can give to fretful, balky young eaters.

Judy Coffman, a Princeton High School junior, tells about a volunteer colleague who had some unexpected success along this line. "She just wasn't getting anywhere with this little boy," Judy says. "He'd only eaten about a quarter of his dinner, and she was so discouraged, thinking she'd failed and all."

"Well, the nurse came along and saw that this little boy was actually eating, and she said 'Do you know that boy hasn't eaten a thing all week and you're the first person who's gotten him to take a thing?' You can imagine how pleased that girl was."

Sometimes, when pediatrics is full of babies, almost the entire 3:30 - 6:30 volunteer stint is occupied with feeding. When there are older children, the tour of duty may require considerably more. Parents' visiting hours end at 1 p. m. and the junior volunteers may have to comfort and divert a sick child who has just said a tearful farewell to Mommie.

"I find that this job calls for more patience than I thought I had," Linda Salkin says.

Three Hours a Week. Each of the 14 volunteers works for three hours one day a week. Usually there are two on duty together. They work under the direction of the nurse on the floor, and of course they do not give medication or perform any of the functions of a regular nurse. "We can't even give a child ginger ale if he asks for it without the nurse's OK," Linda explains.

The girls received on-the-job training from the pediatric nurses and from Mrs. Pritchard, who prepared them ahead of time with an hour-long briefing.

"Those girls were full of intelligent questions when I got through talking to them," Mrs. Pritchard recalls. "Really, they are out of the ordinary run of girls: mature, enthusiastic and already quite dedicated. I think they deserve tremendous credit for what they're doing."

Nursing is still the goal for these fledglings. "I have such a feeling that I want to help these people," Judy says.

Linda says she is more eager than ever to be a nurse, although she finds that she becomes too involved emotionally with some of what she calls "the heart-breaking cases" in the pediatrics ward.

"You have to find a happy medium between hardening yourself to these things, and keeping your sympathy for the children, and I haven't quite reached that point yet," 17-year-old Linda says.

Mrs. Pritchard looks upon this first month of junior volunteer activity as a "shake-down."

"We want to see how much initiative they have, and how well they stand up to the work," she says, "then we'll check up on — Continued on Page 20

I saw a few widened eyes when I took them around on a hospital tour, but except for the three whose schedules compelled them to drop out, they've all stuck with us, and were very much pleased."

The 14 Junior Volunteers are: Frederica Gubshlag, Mary Lou Byrd, Dorothy Foster, Carol Bodde, Linda Skilton, Jill McLaren, Carol Armstrong, Canale Farlee, Jean Yantz, Gladys Jackson, Jeanne Hittner, Judy Coffman, Eissy Mason and Genevieve Seavey.

THROW OUT THAT OLD HAT

Any woman who wants to look chic while puttering in the garden this Summer will have a chance to acquire glamorous gardening clothes at the Princeton Hospital Fete on Saturday, June 4. The elegant agricultural attire will be among items sold at the Garden Shop in the Fete's Lane of Shops.

Made by members of the five garden clubs which are participating in the Garden Shop, the clothes will include wrap-around pinafores and skirts in solid color and striped pastel denims, as well as straw hats with matching bows, canvas-topped wooden clogs and imported gardening gloves. In addition to clothes, the shop will sell annual seedlings, perennials, herbs and accessories for terraces. Co-chairmen of the shop are Mrs. Christian H. Aull and Mrs. Robert Wright.

The Garden Shop is just one of several in the Lane of Shops where unusual wares made by Princeton women will be on sale. Others will be the Crafts Shop, under the direction of Mrs. James Barnes and Mrs. Charles J. Young, and the Gay Potpourri, with Mrs. Brooks Emery as chairman, both of which will feature handmade, individually-designed items.

Aprons for all uses, from cocktail to cleaning, will be available at the Friendship Club Shop, of which Mrs. Bertha Erandon is chairman, while wide assortment of decorator fabrics, including Williamburg prints, will be sold at the Union Church booth, under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth E. Spear.

Specially for Small Fry, a toy shop specializing in wares for young shoppers with limited funds will be operated by the Hopeville Women's Club, with Mrs. George

K. Hall, Jr., and Mrs. Benjamin C. Hillman, Jr., as co-chairmen. Members of the Wyman Club, under the direction of Mrs. John C. Zimmerman and Mrs. William R. McKim, Jr., will run a booth containing handmade doll clothes, stuffed animals and hand puppets. Also designed for young shoppers will be the Treasure Island Shop, which will be run by volunteers from the Hospital Aid Shop, under the direction of Mrs. Henry W. Gordon. PIANO IS RESEARCH TOOL

At New Music School, A roomful of children happily banging away at pianos seems an unlikely research laboratory, but that's what it is for Miss Frances Clark. What's more, her research program has been so successful that Miss Clark, who has been associated with Westminster Choir College since 1955, is now in the process of establishing her own music school.

The school, to be called the New School for Music Study, is scheduled to open next September in a new office building now being constructed at 383 Nassau Street. The first two floors of the building, which is owned by H. G. Houghton, will be used for the music school. Included will be four large classrooms, 10 teaching studios, a music library, a reception room and offices.

Two of the main parts of the program, Miss Clark's new school will be transferred intact from the Choir College. These are piano classes for children and instruction in teaching methods for piano teachers.

Miss Clark also plans to initiate a new program, which is a Music Playshop for children from four to six; piano classes for beginners, and an evening lecture series called "The History of Music," designed as a listener's introduction to music.

Tie In With Research. All these programs will tie in with the research in music teaching methods which Miss Clark has been conducting at the Choir College since for five years previously, at Kalamazoo College in Michigan. While at Kalamazoo she designed a teacher-training department which has served as the model for other schools in various parts of the country.

She and members of her staff, who have also been assisting her at the Choir College, now conduct workshops in music teaching methods every Summer in communities throughout the United States and in Canada. An estimated 8,000 piano teachers participated in these workshops last Summer.

In addition, the teaching methods developed in connection with her work have been organized as a 25-volume series called "The Frances Clark Library for Piano Students," published by the Samson-Birchard Publishing Company, Chicago.

The series ranges from seven elementary reading, writing and playing books for beginners to music and technique workbooks covering eight years of study. Glancing the series is a collection of piano literature series, including small works by master composers from Bach to Bartok.

Two Co-Directors. Serving as co-directors of the new school will be Miss Louise Goss and David Kraehenbuehl. Miss Goss is general editor of the Frances Clark Library and for 10 years has been associate director of the Summer workshops. She is also a former faculty member of the Choir College and the University of Michigan Music School.

Mr. Kraehenbuehl, a member of the faculty of Yale University Music School for the last seven years, is leaving that post in order to direct the theory and composition department at the New School for Music Study. A well-known composer, whose works have been performed here and abroad, he is also founder and editor of the "Journal of Music Theory," an international scholarly periodical.

All three of the new directors are so full of enthusiasm that it sparks from them like static electricity. Particularly appealing to them is the fact that they will now have facilities to increase enrollment in the children's piano classes from the current 137 to a total of 300.

"Our theory is that all children will enjoy piano playing if they're introduced to it in a spirit of adventure," Miss Clark explained earnestly, her face aglow. "That's what we do, and we all have such fun that we want to have just as many children enrolled as we possibly can!"

Composers, Too. All the children in the course are taught to compose as well as to read and play music. "The way it's presented, the children like doing it," Mr. Kraehenbuehl said. "What's more, they're good at it, too, because they're not tied down by rigid rules and regulations."

In his new post at the school, Mr. Kraehenbuehl will give the evening lecture series and will also continue composing pieces for the music teaching books, a task he began last May. "It's not easy," he admitted, "because each piece of music has to fit a — Continued on Page 22

Report from THE MAYOR

Special Council Meeting Set. A special meeting of Mayor and Council has been scheduled for this Friday, May 20, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. It is expected that Council will make its decision on awarding the available alcoholic beverage license to one of the seven applicants.

Members of the Council have devoted a great deal of study to this thorny question. They have visited the various premises, interviewed the applicants, heard statements of their plans from each of the seven or their attorneys, studied the applications and supporting documents, and deliberated thoughtfully in trying to arrive at a fair decision.

Agenda Is Short. One or two other items will probably be on the agenda of the special session. Council has been asked to pass on a request for use of Borough streets by a bus company seeking to link Princeton with the Pennington-Hopewell area.

Council may also take another crack at resolving the question of the breakdown of the Borough's street sweeper, a costly but vital piece of Borough machinery. Last Tuesday's meeting produced insufficient affirmative votes to implement the recommendation of the public works committee aimed at purchase of a new sweeper. There is some sentiment in Council for investing sufficient money in major repairs and replacement of parts in the old equipment. The question must be resolved quickly so that the Borough can maintain its reputation for clean streets.

Special Golf Day Planned. Free-holice Coffee, who directs the Mercer County Recreation Department, has asked the Mayor to encourage Princeton residents to participate in a special free golf day at the County's public golf course (Mountain View Golf Course in West Trenton). Local golf enthusiasts are arranging a tournament on Monday, May 23 — and a Mayor's trophy will be presented to the winner.

Of special interest is the fact that the "pro" at the county course is Princeton's own "Skip" Ferrara. He also serves as a member of our Borough Recreation Committee.

For Memorial Day. The Mayor and members of Council are looking forward to participating once again in the Memorial Day services on May 30. On Thursday of this past week services were held for two of Princeton's greats who made tremendous contributions to this community.

That morning a memorial service was held for former Mayor P. Mackey Struger. That same afternoon was held the funeral service of Dr. Charles R. Erdman whose good works over a long lifetime of service have left a lasting imprint on the lives of all those privileged to know him and, indeed, on the community and its many institutions which he inspired and guided.

Friday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor!" sessions will be held on Friday, May 20, and Friday, May 27, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings, but it should be noted that this Friday at 8 p.m. the Mayor will take out a few minutes from the office schedule to preside at the brief, special meeting of the Council.

Princeton is host this week to a group of top career administrators from New Jersey state government in a week-long management training conference.

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why TOWN TOPICS carries more classified advertising each week in the year than all other Princeton papers combined.

TEN-SHUN! John Fitch, 8, son of Prof. Val L. Fitch of the Department of Physics, and Michael Conway, 6, son of Capt. Edward R. Conway of Department of Military Science, were properly dressed and equipped for Saturday's annual ROTC parade.

BUSINESS In Princeton

FLY TO WASHINGTON

Or to Boston. Starting June 3, Nassau Street businessmen will be able to keep an appointment in Boston or Washington less than two hours after leaving Princeton. Allegory Airlines will inaugurate its north-south air service from Mercer Airport in another fortnight.

The airline's introductory schedule has four daily flights, all of which bypass the congested New York area. The first flight, for Logan International Airport, Boston, will leave from Mercer Airport daily at 10:04 a.m., arriving 91 minutes later after a stop at New London, Conn. The next flight for Washington will leave at 10:22 a.m., arriving in the capital 69 minutes later.

There will be a Boston flight at 7:59 p.m. and a Washington flight at 6:10 p.m. Return flights have been scheduled for 8:30 a.m. and 2:15 p.m. from Boston and 8:45 a.m. and 6:40 p.m. from Washington.

According to Richard J. Colfee, Mercer County Freeholder, and director of the airport, the new service will provide the Trenton area with its first trunk-line service. Dedication ceremonies will be held on June 1 with state, county and municipal officials and business and community leaders present.

"We regard this as an event of great significance to the Delaware Valley," said Mr. Colfee, adding that support of the new schedule would help in Mercer County's campaign for a full range of trunk-line air service between Trenton and major cities along

Art Outdoors

An outdoor exhibit of Princeton art will be held again next month in Palmer Square after a lapse of one year. The exhibition, sponsored by the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce and Princeton Municipal Improvement, will be staged on June 10 and 11, the University's Reunion weekend. Paintings, drawings, prints, pastels, water colors — the range of media is wide, and works will be accepted from any artists living or working within a 20-mile radius of Princeton. Two paintings may be submitted, suitably framed and wired for hanging.

Entry forms may be obtained after May 23 at the Princeton Municipal Improvement Office, 27 Palmer Square East, from 9 to 5 or at The Little Gallery, 39 Palmer Square West. Pictures must be brought for exhibition between June 6 and June 10 only. They may be displayed for exhibition only or for sale and if they are sold, the Jaycees will take 25 percent for use in community projects.

self has been added to the staff of the Educational Testing Service. Known as the "Scribe," it is expected to revolutionize the processing of candidates test papers.
For example, if a student happens to mark two or more answers for the same question, the Scribe carefully selects the darker of the marks. If it can't make up its "mind," it rejects the paper for human examination, but not without first stamping on the paper its opinion of what was done wrong.

The Scribe will be teamed with a new computer to produce more information from a single answer sheet, more accurately and more quickly than is now possible, according to Robert V. Bartnik, planning director of ETS. This means a college will receive score reports sooner and will have the option of asking for additional information, such as a prediction of what grades the student will make in college.

Built by the Norden Division of United Aircraft, the Scribe is presently undergoing trial runs at the ETS Rosedale Road headquarters. So far, it has scored 3000 answer sheets (including answers to 6000 tests) without error. It is expected to run a million without error.

Its Composecote. The Scribe consists of a sensing unit which "reads" test papers, a processing unit which decides how many questions the candidate answered correctly, and a transcribing unit which transfers this information to punched cards for use in the computer. It reduces the old eight-step procedure of test scoring into a single operation.

Several new wrinkles have been built into the Scribe. For instance, candidates will no longer have to use special pencils; an extra-large "memory" unit will store answers to 24 tests, so new answer sheets with a whole afternoon's worth of tests are possible; special alphabetical blocks will permit the machine to "read" the student's name, school and birth date and send these items on to the computer. To top everything off, it will do all of this, in addition to scoring the test, in just over half a second, running through 6000 sheets per hour.

The Scribe's co-worker, to be delivered in September, will be a high-speed computer built by the Radio Corporation of America—the RCA 501. It will turn the number of rights and wrongs on a given test into a "grade" to be reported to the colleges.

In addition, the RCA 501 will add some novelties of its own to the test processing procedure. For example, from the information about the student it receives from the Scribe it will derive a characteristic number, check its "memory" (on magnetic tape) to find his grades on any previous tests, and report these along with the freshly-computed scores.

INTO THE LEAD FOR GOOD: First of three goals by Captain Bob Mulling (extreme left) gives Princeton 2-1 lead over Yale in first period as Tigers moved into first place in Ivy Lacrosse League.

TITLE IN SIGHT

For Tiger Lacrosse Team: The picturesque calm of a May afternoon was shattered by a raucous voice: "You guys know damn well that we've only beaten them once in the last 26 years! I said, '26 years!' Now get out there and do something about it!"

The voice was that of Bill Harkness, Yale lacrosse coach, who had just watched his favored Elis fall behind Princeton by 5-1 in the first half on University field Saturday. He had gathered the Blue players around him in the shade of a big maple tree, and spectators within 50 yards could hear his half-time harangue.

An hour later, the figure had been raised to 27 years. Ferris Thomson's ten had preserved its four-goal margin, thereby virtually wrapping up its fourth straight Ivy title with a 9-5 triumph. Yale's victory over the Tigers in 1956 remained its only success in the rivalry since Herbert Hoover was in the White House.

Captain Bob Mulling paced the win with three goals as an alert, fired-up Princeton entry dominated the contest completely after a startled Eli lead. The visitors scored at 1:15 of the opening round, but Mulling's first goal brought the Tigers' even shortly thereafter and they added to their margin steadily.

Defensive play a Princeton weakness most of the season, was frequently spectacular, with goalie Cordie Kravangar making a number of fine saves and Jack Horton (see "congratulate") leading the action that frustrated many a Yale drive toward the nets. Yale closed the gap briefly in the third period with a pair of goals, but the Tigers roset o the challenge and maintained a margin of at least three during most of the second half.

This weekend, it will be Cornell at 3:30 on University Field, with a victory necessary to assure another championship. The Ithacans appeared at the start of the season to have the best chance of dethroning Princeton, but have already lost to Yale, 11-6. Play of the type that defeated the Elis will do the trick for the Orange and Black, giving it an unbeaten string of 21 against Ivy opposition.

BASEBALL SPLITS

Against Penn and Yale: A pair of one-run decisions went for and against the Princeton baseball team last week as it edged Yale, 6-5, after losing to Pennsylvania, 3-2. The Tigers entertain Navy Saturday at 1 on University Field in the final baseball-lacrosse doubleheader of the season.

Army was on the schedule Wednesday at West Point. The Tigers went into the game with a 3-1 mark; Army, unbeaten in its first five games and bolstered by a rain-out with Brown, its closest pursuer, seems a likely winner of its first Eastern League title.

At Philadelphia last Wednesday, Princeton got two runs from its first two batters when Jack Whitehouse hammered over the right field wall to score Bob Myslik ahead of him. Thereafter, however, nary a Tiger could complete the circuit, and when the home team kept the pressure on steadily, it eventually racked up a 3-2 triumph.

Southpaw Dave Douglas again found wildness costly as he followed two hits in the ninth with a pair of walks, forcing the winning run across on a high 3-2 pitch. Inability to hunt was costly, a pair of squeeze plays failing with Tigers in the middle innings.

Rallies Trim Yale: Two three-run innings brought Princeton from behind Saturday and produced an eventual 6-5 triumph over the Elis in a close but sloppily played contest. The loss was the sixth in seven Ivy starts for the Bulldogs, who are experiencing one of their poorest seasons.

Princeton was guilty of five errors—three of them in the seventh. The victors outbit the underdogs of seven walks but left 11 runners stranded.

The winning runs were recorded in the last of the seventh, after Continued on Page 29

THE PLAY THAT FILLED THE BASES: Bill MacMillan slides across third on late throw on bunt by Ken Murray (foreground), filling the bases in the seventh inning for Princeton against Yale. Elmer Naples followed with a two-run single to help Tigers win, 6-5. (Photo by Philip Schambaugh.)

Sports In Princeton

The Tigers filled the bases on walks to Bill MacMillan and Mike Ippolito and a sacrifice bunt that put Ken Murray aboard when the throw to third was late. Elmer Naples dropped a single over first to score two and Mike Devine's sharp hit off the second baseman's glove brought in another. Wally Phillips got credit for the victory but needed help from junior Lee Hegner for the final four outs. Short of work this season, Hegner ended a bases-filled rally in the eighth on an easy fly to left field and got through the ninth without trouble.

CREWS DO WELL.

Five of Six in Finals. A considerably better performance than had been expected of it was credited to Princeton in the Eastern Sprint Championships last weekend on Lake Quinsigamond at Worcester, Mass. The varsity and freshman heaves and all three 150-lb. shells qualified for the finals, with the lightweight freshmen's second place behind Harvard the best showing.

The varsity was fifth in a six-boat final, trailing the surprise winner, Cornell; Harvard, Navy and Syracuse. The Tigers took the measure of third-seeded Penn, which had beaten them earlier this season for the Childs Cup. In the morning, Princeton turned in its best performance of the season as it placed second in its heat behind Navy, while leading Wisconsin, Rutgers and Dartmouth over the line.

It's a case of out of the frying pan, into the fire for the Tigers this weekend as they go against champion Cornell on Lake Cayuga. An upset victor in the Sprints over highly-regarded Harvard, the Ithacans are an odds-on favorite to win the Carnegie Cup.

Yale is the third entry in the annual event, which Princeton has not won since 1952. At Cambridge the fifties will race against Harvard and Yale for the Gold-throat Cup, with Harvard, victor at Worcester last week, the probable winner.

THURBER WINS

Takes Javelin Title. Although ten feet off his best showing this season, sophomore Ed Thurber had no trouble winning the javelin title in the Hepsigonal Games Saturday at Cambridge. His toss of 233 feet, eight inches was better than a dozen feet longer than his nearest competitor.

The Tigers' other hope for a champion, sprinter Dick Edmunds, was beaten again this season by Yale's Jim Stack. However, Edmunds chased the fast-stopping Eli to a 440 meet record of .47 seconds.

The Tigers finished seventh in the ten-team field with 17 points. They'll close out the season Saturday at 2 against Cornell, and just might trim the Ithacans for the first time since 1948. Last year, it was an unusual 70-70 tie.

TRACKMEN WIN

PHS Swamps Hamilton. Princeton High School's track team captured its third dual meet victory Friday as it overpowered an out-classed Hamilton High squad, 98 1/2 to 18 1/2, on Harris Field. The Little Tigers took first place in every event except the high jump which ended in a tie.

Standout performances were achieved by Lamont Fletcher, term co-captain, and Joe Beach-

Fletcher failed to win the low hurdles for the first time this year only because Coach Win Niles did not enter him in the event in order to give "some of our hurdlers a chance to get some experience." Jerry Cypress won the low hurdles in Fletcher's absence.

The javelin was won by Joe Beachell whose spectacular winning throw measured 185 feet, 4 1/2 inches to represent his best effort to date. Only a junior, Beachell is somewhat small for the javelin event, weighing 165 lbs. and standing 5'11". "If Joe can add another five feet to his throws," Niles said, "he will do well in the state meet next month."

Other Blue and White winners were Ridge Applegate in the shot put, Howard Gould in the discus, Steve Schetta in the 100-yard dash, Bill Lewis in the 220, Dave Kilgour in the 440, Pepper Constantine in the half mile and Dick Lapan in the mile. Bill Johnson and Kilgour shared first place in the pole vault.

Highland Park Edges PHS. On Wednesday, Highland Park, Group 2 state champions for the last two years, upended Princeton High, 63 1/2 to 53 1/2. Sorely missed, Coach Niles said, was Rich Montgomery who would have added strength in the high jump and pole vault.

Fletcher took first place in the low and high hurdles and in the broad jump to account for 15 points. Beachell won the javelin.

The Blue and White cindermen engage Trenton High on Friday at Trenton. Niles was confident that his team would conquer the Red and Black: "They haven't beaten us in years and I don't expect them to start now," he said.

JACK HORTON
Lacrosse Defenseman

When Princeton's lacrosse team had trouble beating Dartmouth (7-6) and was tied by Harvard (11-11), it was apparent that the Tigers' defense was not up to par. When Yale defeated both Dartmouth and pre-season favorite Cornell by five-goal margins, it was obvious that the Orange and Black would have to improve the brand of its play considerably if it hoped to add to the string of championships it is building in the Ivy League.

Key to the solution was improved defense, and last Saturday, the key man was Jack Horton. Assigned to play man-to-man on Yale's prolific scorer Jack Allen (eight goals in the last three games), Horton blanked the Eli attacker, who was good enough to be all-Ivy in his junior year.

In the crucial first half, the Blue got a quick goal and then held scoreless for the next 24 minutes, a drought that was extended midway in the third period. With Princeton short a man on penalties for several minutes in the second quarter, Yale stormed the Princeton goal steadily—only to see the Tig-gers turn back every thrust and then add methodically to their own lead.

Horton is a symbol of the great coaching that lacrosse gets at Princeton from Ferris Thomsen. Although he went to Deerfield, one of New England's top schools in the sport, Horton was active in basketball and track, turning to lacrosse first as a Princeton freshman. Two years later, he was not only all-Ivy but second team All-American.

A true westerner who hails from Saddlestreng, Wyo., and intends to make ranching his career, Horton personifies the scholar-athlete in his winning a Rhodes Scholarship to study at Oxford next year. Before that, he has a date Saturday to help the Tigers nail down the Ivy championship in their final game of the season against Cornell.

A number of Princeton players stood out in the victory over Yale Saturday—Captain Bob Milling, goalie Connie Krongard, defenseman Jim Lawrence, and more. Some of them were in the spotlight frequently, but it was the goose call that Jack Horton hung on Jack Allen that spearheaded Princeton's defensive efforts, and went so far to make the 9-5 victory possible.

Horton, 1-0, Hun scored a 5-4 defeat that Delbarton had hung on the Red and Black earlier in the season. This was the game Hun had been pointing for, the one in which a victory, in the words of Coach Squier Hall, "would make the season for the team. To win it, everybody had to be perfect." Hall added, "and they nearly were. We made a few defensive laps, but our base running improved considerably and I'd say the boys were 60 percent better."

In patching his second win, Maynell was aided by fine defensive play. Shortstop Paul Kadle and second baseman Lou D'Ambrosio handled at least ten chances lawlessly and Chris Farley, first-sacker for Hun, engineered a double play that cut off a potential Delbarton rally.

Hun scored the game's only run early in the contest on an infield error. It would have added more. If it had been able to get runners on base across the plate. Twice Hun filled the bases and failed to score, leaving a dozen men stranded throughout the game.

Peddie Upsets Hun. A three-run homer by Peddie's Selwyn Sidell in the top half of the final inning enabled Peddie to overcome a 3-1 deficit and hand Hun its fourth defeat Wednesday on the Red and Black's diamond. Frank Black lost it for Hun, his first and Hun's fourth defeat. He had won two. Hun faces Admiral Farragut at home on Friday. It will close out its 1960 schedule against Solebury, a previous Hun victim this season, next Wednesday. The game will be played at Solebury.

YANKKEES, GIANTS LEAD

In YMCA Midget League, Hu-lit's Yankkees and the P.M.L. Giants were league leaders as the YMCA Midget League wound up the first half of its baseball season. Nassau Savings Athletics and the Kivianis Club Orioles were tied for second in the American League with 3-2 records, one game behind the pace-setting Yankkees.

The Plainsboro Lions Pirates were only a half a game behind the Giants in the National League with a 4-1 record. The leaders had tied the third-place Rotary Club Dodgers who have a 3-2-1 mark. In fourth place are the University Shore Braves (4-4), followed by the Lions Club Cardinals (1-3) and the Houghton Real Estate Red Legs who have lost four straight games.

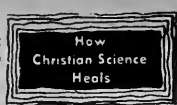

In American League action last week, the fourth-place Nassau Oil Tigers won their second straight game after losing their opening three, whipping the Yankees 14-13. The defending champion Laidlaw and Company Red Sox, beat the First National Bank Indians, 17-9, to tie them for fifth place with 1-4 records. The Orioles downed the Athletics, 5-2.

The Giants maintained their slim lead in the National League with a close 7-5 victory over the winless Red Legs. Other games ended Dodgers 14, Braves 2; and Pirates 10, Cardinals 8. In two exhibition games, the Red Legs routed the Indians, 17-7; and the Red Sox pounded the Pirates, 13-9.

Scheduled for Thursday in the National League are Pirates vs. Braves, Maryland Park; Cardinals vs. Giants, YMCA field; and Red Legs vs. Dodgers, Valley Road. The American League will swing into action Friday evening with the Athletics vs. Tigers, Val-

PHS PLAYERS CHOSEN

For Seixas Tennis Clinic. Alan Tucker and Mary Anne Bonham have been chosen to head the list of Princeton High School tennis players who will participate in the Vic Seixas Tennis Clinic to be held Saturday, June 4, at 9:45 a.m. on the cove-turf courts behind Dillon Gym. In the event of rain, the demonstration will be held in the gymnasium.

Tucker was a finalist a few years ago in the Penn State Boys Championships and also the New Jersey Jaycees Tournament. Miss Bonham is currently a member of the Junior Wightman Cup squad Philadelphia and has a ranking in the Girls' Middle States Lawn Tennis Association.

Other students assisting include Ralph Harrison, Craig Sommers, Griffin Dix, Cindy Coe, Sue Musselman, Lynne Marck, Jane Blizard, Bonnie Schrader, Martha Craig, Diane Hally, Marcia Ramsay, Dale Rose and Kathy Hoff. Students representing other schools will be announced next week.

Open to the entire community free of charge, the clinic is designed to encourage good tennis among Princeton's youth. It is being sponsored by Princeton University, the YM-YWCA and the Junior Development Committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

BOWLING NOTES

Tiger Edges Dayton Five. Tiger Garage came from behind to beat the Dayton Five in the championship roll-off of the Industrial League last week. Leading the first game by four pins, Tiger came back to take the second by seven and the third by more than a hundred. In the Princeton Women's League, Tiger Bus was the life in a roll-off against Cranbury Bank, winners of the first half of season play.

Close races for the top spots remained in the other loop action as unfinished leagues began to wind up their seasons. Sportsmen No. 2 broke out of a tie to lead the "B" league by one game over Walker Gordon (84) with two weeks of bowling remaining. In the Women's Industrial loop, Cifelli's (47) held a two-point margin over second-place Decker's Dairy. And the Hendersons, in the Mixed League, had their eight-point lead cut in half by Sculerati (34).

Top game of the week was registered by Jim Kahny with 256 in the "B" loop. He was followed by Bob Sculerati, 254; Joe Eddins, 207-231-176 for a 614 series; Jack Lucey, 211; Rudy Ehari, 210; Tony Tamasi, 207; Harry Kahny, 202; and Bill Dumble, 201. Sara Rose led the women with 167-171-236 for a 574 series in the Mixed League.

PHS Schedule Changed

The Princeton High School football team will play an abbreviated seven-game schedule this fall unless another opponent for the Little Tigers can be found by September.

A conflict in dates has forced Mount Holly to bow out of the 1960 PHS schedule. The Hollies, a member of the South Central Jersey League, are slated to meet another League team on the date of the regular PHS-Mount Holly meeting. Freddie has been added to replace Mount Holly in the season's opener for the Blue and White.

Somerville, a Group 4 school and larger than Princeton High, dropped the Little Tigers in favor of meeting Westfield, another Group 4 school. The gap left by the Somerville defection remains to be filled.

The rest of the schedule is the same as last year's. In addition to Freddie, PHS will meet Freshhold, Leonardo, Trenton High, Trenton Catholic, Long Branch and Ewing.

tests during the past week, setting its mark for the current season at 8.3. Last Wednesday, the Blue and White went 10 innings to rack up a 4-4 victory over Hamilton but Monday saw it lose to Steiner, 3-2.

Henry Strube, Route 206, Skillman, refrigerator repairman: Well, if you go by the rules, he would be considered a spy and he should be treated as such—just as Russia, I'm sure, will consider our pilot.

Mrs. Louis Di Massa, 44 Wilton Street, housewife: I think he should be court-martialed. If the Russians shoot our downed pilot, then we should do the same to any pilot we may catch of theirs! I really don't think the two countries should spy on one another, anyway. There is too much secrecy between them; they should be more open toward each other.

John Soeller, Olden Lane, Hightstown, insurance man: They shouldn't shoot him because it isn't wartime. It's hard to say what they should do. If it is proven to be a spy, they should keep him here and not let him go.

James Phoe, Cherry Valley Road, film coordinator: I think he should be given a fair trial according to our democratic setup but I also feel we should make capital out of the propaganda angle involved, the same as the Russians are doing.

Jack Lackey went the distance in the overtime contest at Hamilton. He held the losers to seven hits and struck out 13 as his mates rallied for two runs in the third extra inning to nail down the triumph.

A 3-2 victim of the Little Tigers earlier in the spring, Steiner broke a 2-0 deadlock in the top of the sixth to win Monday afternoon on Harris Field. Bruce Sandvick, who started, was charged with the loss, Lackey taking over in relief.

The visitors loaded the bases in the sixth and Lackey left his post at first to do the pitching. He retired the first batter he faced on a pop fly but shortstop Roy Gramsoun was charged with an error on a ground ball, the winning run crossing the plate. Lackey got out of the round without further trouble but the Blue and White could not draw even in its last two turns at bat.

Following their mid-week scheduled game here against Trenton Catholic, the Little Tigers were set to play Hunterdon Central away on Monday. Road trips to Trenton High and Somerset and a home game with Hamilton close out the season by the end of the month.

IT'S TERMITE TIME!

"Flying Ants" are a sign termites may be attacking your home. Call today for a free inspection by a University Graduate Entomologist to determine if any damage is being done and if protective treatment is necessary. We use wood pressure treating methods which protect damaged wood from any further dry-rot or fungus. Our methods are based on sound engineering and wood preserving principles and for that reason treatments given by us are capable of giving more permanent protection. The work is thorough, effective and guaranteed for five years. Our charge for complete protection is no more than some others charge for partial treatments. Please call collect if out of town.
